INTS offers students the opportunity to customize their degree to fit their interests and aspirations. Students work with an INTS advisor to design a plan to achieve their educational and career goals while working towards a Bachelor of Science in Integrative Studies.
TWO INTEGRATIVE STUDIES TRACKS

SPECIALIZED STUDIES

The Specialized Studies track is for students who wish to pursue upper-level coursework in two concentrations (i.e. Business and Communication). Students can select from a range of majors, minors, and certificate programs when choosing their areas of specialization.

Popular Areas of Specialization:
- Leadership Studies
- Business
- Communication
- Human Services

GENERAL STUDIES

The General Studies track allows students to fulfill their upper-level coursework requirements without the restriction of specialization. General Studies students must complete an internship, cooperative experience, or service learning activity and take required courses in technology, communication, and leadership to ensure their preparedness for a career or further study.

Required Courses:
- IT 2101: Computers in Your World
- COM 2129: Public Speaking
- LDRS 3000: Foundations of Leadership
- WRIT 3140: Technical Writing
- INTS 4498: Senior Seminar in Integrative Studies
When I think about the Integrative Studies program, I think about my own personal acronyms: an Inspiring, Nurturing, Teaching, and Supporting program. The INTS program is like a transformational bridge that helped me develop into a good leader that is prepared for life after graduation.

— Thyra Keth Zeits
FOCUS & DIRECTION

Transferring to the INTS program was a blessing for me. I now have direction; I am focused and love what I’m doing. The leadership program with a concentration in sociology has set me on the right track, and I am excited about the future.

— Daisy Graham
PREPARED FOR LIFE

"If it were not for Integrative Studies, I would have been here forever. My progress made me appreciate having to work hard. It was all very motivating."

— Dominique Simmons
The Bachelor of Science degree in Integrative Studies allows students the flexibility to design a personalized degree plan. Regardless of selected track, students must complete 39 hours of upper-division coursework, earning a grade of "C" or above in each course. To graduate, an INTS major must have completed a minimum of 123 credit hours. To ensure a cohesive degree plan, students are required to meet with an INTS program advisor in the Department of Leadership and Integrative Studies to develop the proposed curriculum. A written rationale is required of all INTS majors, addressing how their selected track and course plan matches their academic and career goals.
