APPENDIX A: Travel Policies for University College

A. The college will strictly adhere to all KSU Business Services rules regarding travel, including deadlines for submitting authorization and expense forms.

B. Travel requests must be approved by the traveler’s direct supervisor before the traveler registers for the conference or books any reservations or tickets. This will give all parties time to review it thoroughly. If it is approved, it gives the traveler time to book airfare and accommodations prior to the 14-day deadline, when prices are likely to increase.

C. The following information must be attached to the Request for the Authority to Travel in the Concur system: (1) a copy of the conference proposal submitted or another form of supporting documentation (e.g., letter of invitation to speak, brochure for professional development meeting, etc.); (2) agenda for the conference/meeting/event showing which meals are being provided.
D. A faculty or staff member who is receiving a speaking fee is not eligible to seek reimbursement for travel expenses from University College. A faculty or staff member who is receiving an honorarium is eligible to request reimbursement for travel expenses in excess of the amount of the honorarium. Written documentation detailing the honorarium should be attached to the Request for the Authority to Travel in Concur.

E. Expense reports must be submitted via Concur between 3-10 days after your approved travel is completed. Encumbered funds will be released on the 11th day by the UC Business Manager to be used by other faculty and staff in the department if the expense form is not submitted. All necessary receipts and a copy of the agenda showing meals that have been provided must be attached.

F. While many KSU academic colleges and departments have chosen to limit the amount faculty and staff members receive for university-approved travel, either by individual trip or by academic year, University College has chosen to continue to allow individual budget approvers (Department Chairs, Deans, ADP Co-Chair, etc.) to allocate funding according to the following priorities:

1. Travel to present scholarly research or creative activity or participate in a conference/workshop determined to be of significant benefit to the strategic needs of the university, the college and/or the department. Travel to present scholarly research or creative activity at any conference, exhibition, or performance where the presentation is deemed to be beneficial to the faculty member for purposes of career development/enhancement, especially as it may relate to tenure and/or promotion for the individual.

2. The enhancement of the professional recognition of the faculty member, the department, the college, and/or the institution will also be considered.

3. Travel allowing a faculty/staff member to fulfill his or her obligations as an officer of a professional state, regional, national, or international conference or association.

4. Travel to present best practices (teaching strategies, administrative philosophy, etc.) that will be, or has the potential to be, of significant benefit to the audience to which it is presented but is not a presentation of research or creative activity.

5. Travel to facilitate a roundtable discussion at an international, national, or regional conference.

6. Travel to attend a conference for the purposes of faculty/staff development (e.g., attending to learn about a new teaching strategy or assessment tool).

7. Individuals who receive full funding for one trip may be asked to bear some of the cost for subsequent trips in an academic year to ensure equal opportunities for professional travel.

8. If funds are not available within the department/center, the traveler may request that the direct supervisor seek financial support from the Dean's Office. Faculty/staff members should not ask for travel support directly from the Dean.
9. When multiple faculty/staff members are working collaboratively on a scholarly project, travel funding for all collaborators to attend the same conference should not be assumed. The decision to send more than one collaborator will be at the discretion of the budget approver. Travel budgets, like all aspects of budgets, are available to a faculty/staff member who requests a meeting with the budget approver to review it. University College is committed to transparent budget processes.
